Mixed-Stock Fisheries
(Tabled by the Russian Federation)

In 2025, Atlantic salmon mixed-stock fisheries (MSF) continued only in the coastal waters of the White Sea. Atlantic salmon coastal fisheries in the Barents Sea was banned in the late 1950s. The brief description of MSF was provided in the North-East Atlantic Commission document in 2025, NEA(25)04. There have been no changes in salmon fishery management since then.

In 2025, the total reported catch of Atlantic salmon harvested in the coastal areas of the White Sea was 11.1 t, 25 and 45 % below the previous five and ten-year averages.
